

polishing effect can be achieved on said wafer by selectively moving said wafer frictionally one of said plurality of regions, each of said plurality of regions having a respective underlying layer adapted to achieve said specific process effect. --

---